

Liquor Board Accedes to Town Council's Request

Beer Parlors and Liquor Store to Close at Intervals Every Saturday

Owing to disorders on the streets arising from drunkenness, particularly on pay-days, the council requested the Alberta Liquor Board to close the beer parlors at stated hours on Saturdays.

As a result the bars will be closed from 12 noon till 2 p.m. and from 6 to 7.30 p.m. on Saturdays, and the liquor store will close at 6 p.m. instead of 8 p.m.

A counter petition has been circulated this week asking that the liquor store remain open to 8 p.m. as usual. It is also reported a petition will be circulated to request the order closing the beer parlors at the above hours.

The reason that objection is taken is that no similar order has been issued by the Liquor Control Board governing other towns in the Pass.

There is a variance of opinions as to the effectiveness of the closing of the bars for intervals on Saturdays. More effective would be the strict adherence of the licence laws, whereby offenders would be fined for drunkenness and disorder. The trouble in the past has arisen from offenders making a nuisance of themselves on the streets, and a certain laxity on the part of police control. Were there police on the spot to curb disorderly conduct, it would most effectively check cause for complaint by the general public.

It is for this reason that Coleman has persistently pressed to have mounted police stationed here. A local policeman cannot handle this work effectively; moreover to the mounted police is entrusted the police work arising out of breaches of the liquor act.

As The Journal has pointed out on previous occasions, better police control is the only effective measure to be adopted, in which licensees must co-operate.

Police Court News

George Kroesing, under arrest for armed hold-up in Coleman Co-Operative Store on March 21, has been remanded by the Police magistrate at Lethbridge for a further eight days, and will be given his preliminary trial on April 16.

Ken Deugan, arrested on a charge of having stolen property in his possession, was before Magistrate Gresham at Blairmore on Wednesday afternoon.

The stolen property was a belt which Deugan alleged he received from Kroesing and which he knew was stolen. Magistrate Gresham passed sentence of eighteen days. Taking into account the sixteen days already spent by Deugan in Lethbridge jail, Deugan will be released from custody during the week-end.

"Reluctant Dragon" Played by School Children

Performance Elicits High Praise for Young Performers—Costumes and Scenic Effects Very Creditable

The public school concert, for which the teachers and students had been preparing for the past months, was staged in the Community hall on Thursday and Friday nights and was a success in every way. The financial objective, which is to pay the balance on the new motion picture machine, was more than reached.

The program opened with the "Russian Snow Storm" dance by the grade I pupils of Miss E. Hayson, and Miss Isobel Atkinson very ably played the piano accompaniment. The next item was music by the Rhythm band, pupils of Mrs. Clifford, with Terry Krycka directing and Donald Graham at the piano. The program continued with a song, "The Japanese Fan" by Grade III pupils, followed by folk dances by Grades III, and IV. Vocal solos by Rose Popenik, Violet D'Andrea, and Titina Rizzo were all enjoyed and the boys and girls choirs directed by Mr. James Cousins were especially good, the Anvil Chorus receiving much applause. The last item, a play, "The Reluctant Dragon", included a large cast, pupils of Miss E. Wilson and Miss O. Hole, and was very well played and was enjoyed by all.

Between acts of the play on Friday a few minutes were given to the Girl Guide Association for the presentation of "Life Saving" medals to the Misses Sheila Devine, Joanna Flynn, Isabel McDonald and Mary Hoyle of Coleman, and Miss Kathleen McDonald of Blairmore. The presentations were made by Mrs. L. Morgan, district commissioner, of Blairmore.

At the close of the program, on behalf of the public school teachers, Principal Hoyle gave a vote of thanks to all who had so willingly given of their time and knowledge to make the concert a success, with special mention to Mrs. S. Kyzwy who helped with the costumes, Mr. Arthur Graham, Mr. Edgar Reid, and Mr. Harold Reid for the splendid lighting effects and to Joe Zenzula and Fred Blazenko for the scenery.

The teachers and pupils deserve much credit for the performance and it is hoped another will be given at some future date.—M. H.

Suggestion That Britain Purchase Reserve Grain

London.—The Times in an editorial asks whether it would not be feasible for the Canadian wheat board to store some of its grain surplus in the United Kingdom as a measure of national defence.

Pointing out that no defence scheme can be adequate unless it provides against Britain, in the event of war, being starved into submission, the Times refers to a recent estimate that wheat stocks in this country on March 1 amounted to only 10 days supply. The Times continues that despite ample storage capacity the reserve stock of wheat in Britain has been allowed to sink to a level which in time of war would be dangerously low while a great surplus stock is being held in Canada.

"There naturally are objections to the buying and holding of wheat or any other commodity by the government," the Times adds, "but since a common interest is at stake, are there no inducements likely to encourage the Canadian wheat board to transfer part of its surplus to Britain. The cost need not be prohibitive, while the maintenance of a reserve stock in Britain adequate for some weeks' supply would mitigate the danger of dearth simultaneously with steadying the market to the benefit of Canadian and other producers."

Wins Scholarship

Edmonton Nurse Gets Year's Tuition At University Of London

Montreal.—Nurse Caroline E. Sage of Edmonton has been awarded a scholarship providing for a year's tuition at Bedford College, University of London.

The announcement, made from the national office of the Canadian Nurses' Association, said Miss Sage would become a student in the course on public health nursing, as provided for by the Florence Nightingale International Foundation.

A graduate of the School of Nursing at the University of Alberta, Miss Sage is the third member of the Canadian association to win such a scholarship.

Globe-Circling Press Service

United States Will Keep Diplomats In Touch By Radio

Washington.—The state department has revealed plans for the immediate creation of a globe-circling radio press service of its own, intended to keep American diplomatic and consular officials completely abreast of developments here that concern them.

Short wave receiving apparatus is now en route for Sydney, Australia; Calcutta; Santiago, Chile; London; Buenos Aires; Rio de Janeiro; Lima, Peru; and Cairo, Egypt.

Stabilizing Their Money

Belgrade.—Stabilization of their respective currencies in dealing with each other and creation of a triangular clearing house were decided upon by the governors of the central banks of the little entente countries (Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania) at the conclusion of a four-day conference here.

Arrangements Made For Coronation In May Of Next Year

London.—King Edward VIII. will be crowned in May next year—probably on Thursday, May 27.

Prime Minister Baldwin announced in the House of Commons that His Majesty had approved of arrangements for the coronation ceremony to take place in that month. The actual date, he added, would be announced as soon as possible.

Court circles singled out Thursday, May 27, as the most probable date. It was recalled that the coronations of Queen Victoria and King George V. took place on Thursdays—June 28, 1838, and June 22, 1911, respectively. Edward VII's coronation also was on Thursday, June 26, 1902.

May 27 was considered the most likely Thursday for the present king's coronation because Thursday, May 6, is the anniversary of King George's accession, while May 13 and 20 are too close to Easter.

The king Thursday participated in a colorful ceremony in connection with his accession, and made it the occasion to voice a fervent plea for peace and to pledge himself to continue service to the empire.

"As Prince of Wales," His Majesty declared, "I bore a device with the ancient motto 'I serve'. As king I shall hold this in constant remembrance, for a king can perform no higher function, than that of service."

The king affirmed his determination to do all he could to promote peace and bring about a revival of commerce and industry both at home and abroad.

Revising Relief Costs

Ottawa Plans To Reduce Total Grants After Survey

Ottawa.—Result of surveys showing winter costs of relief were greater than in spring and summer, the Dominion government proposes to revise the present Dominion grants-in-aid to provinces, designed to meet conditions prevailing during the winter months. It was announced in a statement issued by the department of labor. Total grants would be reduced by 15 per cent, making the grants-in-aid to the provinces for April $2,066,286.

"Prior to July 31, 1934," the statement said, "the Dominion contributed on various percentage basis to the expenditures of the provinces for direct relief, the Dominion percentage being equivalent to approximately 28 per cent, of total expenditures made in connection with direct relief."

"From August 1, 1934, the system was changed, and in place of a percentage contribution, grants-in-aid were made to the provinces to assist them in connection with their relief responsibilities, the monthly grant-in-aid to the nine provinces being $1,751,250. This expenditure was equivalent to a Dominion contribution of approximately 28 per cent of the total joint expenditures."

Move Was Rejected

Secret Meeting Of Social Crediters Refuses Lottery Idea

Edmonton.—Efforts in one faction of the Social Credit representation in the legislature to obtain legalization of lotteries for the benefit of Alberta hospitals were spiced in the Social Credit caucus and therefore will not be brought before the legislature, it was revealed.

A resolution which had it obtained support of the caucus, would have been presented to the legislature, was presented to the Social Crediters' secret meeting.

This resolution was declared to have been a copy of the resolution passed a few days ago by the Saskatchewan legislature by J. Milneberger, Maple Creek, M.L.A., that "this legislature is of the opinion that the parliament of Canada should enact such legislation as to operate government-controlled lotteries in aid of hospitals."

Alberta Plans Bond Issue

Would Pay Off The Holders Of Savings Certificates

Edmonton. Alberta government intends to offer a bond issue in order to pay off holders of savings certificates, Hon. Charles Cockcroft, provincial treasurer, stated in the legislature when the compulsory re-funding bill was considered in committee of the whole. Demand and term certificates represent between $9,000,000 and $10,000,000.

Last Aug. 25 the province suspended payments of savings certificates, following the "run" that occurred just after the provincial election.

Wins Story Competition

Toronto.—Miss Emily Leavens of Vidder Crossing, B.C., was the winner of the Dominion-wide short story competition sponsored by the national educational committee, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire. Her story, entitled "Remembering," won $50 as the best of over 200 entries.

RADIO PROBE CHAIRMAN

A. L. Beaulieu, who has been selected chairman of the special committee of the House of Commons to study radio broadcasting in the Dominion.

Inquiry Is Postponed

Committee Cannot Investigate Cut In Relief Payments Now

Ottawa. The house committee on industrial relations decided it could not investigate at this time the cut in relief payments announced by Labor Minister Rogers this week.

Chairman C. E. McIntosh (Lib., North Battleford), took the view the committee should first deal with the reference before it respecting the employment of Orientals on steamships enjoying Canadian government subsidies. The committee agreed with him.

The question of relief was raised by T. L. Church (Cons., Toronto-Broadview), who said the cut in relief payment by the Dominion to the provinces would be a serious thing for the provinces, municipalities and people on relief, and the committee should deal with it at once.

New Viceroy For India

Marquis Of Liffhgow Taking Over Post From Lord Willingdon

London.—The Marquis of Liffhgow was given a cordial send-off as he left London on a start of a journey to India, where he will assume the post of viceroy. He is succeeding Earl of Willingdon, who was governor-general of Canada in 1926-31.

At the station the king was represented by the Earl of Faversham, lord-in-waiting. Others there included the dowager Lady Minto, chateaine at Rideau Hall 1898-1904, and the Earl of Beasborough, who succeeded Lord Willingdon at Ottawa.

Preparing For Conscription

Obligatory War Service Is Being Planned By Austria

Vienna.—Austria is reported to be preparing a constitution amendment to provide "obligatory federal service"—believed by many to be another name for conscription.

The proposal would enable the government to call on all men and women up to the age of 42 for "civil or military service."

Berlin.—The German government has issued an order prohibiting Jews of military age from emigrating without obtaining special permits from both military and civil authorities.

New Crisis Seen As Little Entente Makes Threat To Mobilize

Paris. Rumanian, Czechoslovakia, and Yugoslavia have notified western European powers that they will mobilize if Hungary—as is expected—follows the example of Austria and reintroduces compulsory army training, it is understood.

Their anxiety indicated that they might contemplate action which would draw bigger powers into a situation as alarming as that which immediately followed Germany's re-occupation of the Rhineland.

Austria's rearmament was not unexpected, and the reasons for it, among them the menace of Germany, were known. But Hungary's rearmament would be regarded as a direct threat by the three little entente nations.

They fear both a move by the defeated world war powers to regain territory ceded by the peace treaties and they foresee also an effort to restore the rule of the Hapsburg dynasty in central Europe. It is believed here and in other capitals that Premier Benito Mussolini agreed to Austria's rearmament at his recent conference with Austrian and Hungarian premiers and foreign ministers at Rome.

There are hints that it was not only the menace of a possible German effort to extend its influence in Austria, but difficulties within Austria which caused the recent rearmament move.

These difficulties include political agitation against the Austrian government, stimulated by the German reoccupation of the Rhineland, and new financial troubles arising from the crisis in affairs of the great Phoenix Insurance Company of Austria. Both Marx and Socialists are said to be active.

But if Hungary rearmament, the little entente nations which almost surround it would feel themselves seriously endangered, and their statements that they will mobilize were accepted as sincere because they would force a German-Austrian-Hungarian-Bulgarian bloc in formation, and a threat to their very existence.

Overseas Sales Increased

Greater Interest In Canadian Exhibits At British Industries Fair

Ottawa.—Substantial increases in orders over 1935 were reported by Canadian firms exhibiting at the British industries fair of 1936, held simultaneously at London and Birmingham, the department of trade and commerce announced.

Interest was displayed at the fair in food supplied by a Canadian firm and a new type of canned soup was exhibited which resulted in several large orders, one for 12,000 cases.

To Amend Copyright Act

Ottawa. Notice of amendments to the copyright act of 1931, which will provide for constitution of a copyright appeal board, has been placed on the order paper of the House of Commons by Hon. Fernand Rinfret, secretary of state. The new legislation will make changes in respect to provisions for fees and royalties which may be collected.

New Financial Deal For Municipalities Urged By McGeer

"Today, from one end of the country to the other, municipal governments no provinces nor both combined, can continue to carry the proportion of the burden that has been shifted to the junior branches of government," Mr. McGeer warned.

Unless some adequate financial relief was extended by the Dominion "many of our Canadian municipalities cannot escape bankruptcy."

The Vancouver member fortified his argument with an array of figures and opinions. He said municipal default in Ontario exceeded $11,000,000. Defaulting municipalities in Saskatchewan totalled 157, and 57 Quebec cities and towns were under control of the municipal commission.

Mr. McGeer said the total debt of Montreal was $268,000,000. The city's annual tax levy was $34,000,000, over half going to pay debt charges. And now special taxes were being proposed on everything from parking signs and new plumbing to night clubs.

The debate arose on second reading of the government bill to establish an employment commission, and drew from Eric Poole (S.C., Red Deer) an appeal for a national dividend, the basic remedy of the Social Crediters.

Unemployment, said the 29-year-old Social Crediter, could never be solved by seeking export markets or borrowing money "or by a loan council to centralize financial control." It could be solved only when the government took over financial control from the banks and issued a national dividend which would equalize purchasing power and commodity prices.

Creation of the national employment commission was under fire from two sources—Angus MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver East) and John R. MacNicol (Cons., Toronto-Davenport) who agreed it offered no solution for distress conditions.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

THOUGH Premier Aberhart's decision to default on meeting the principal of provincial bonds maturing April 1 caused widespread comment, he has affirmed he will not repudiate the contract under which the bonds were issued. For political reasons much has been said. The fact that increased taxation has followed the premier's promises there would be no increase in taxes and an increase of purchasing power, has marked the contrast between pre-election promises and post-election non-fulfilment.

HOWEVER, there is absolute truth in the stand that he takes, that the province cannot borrow itself out of debt. Debts must be paid, and Albertans must make sacrifices to a considerable degree if debts are to be paid and the continual mortgaging of the future is to be eliminated. It is high time that the province and in fact, the entire Dominion, began to live within its income. Relief costs have laid a heavy burden on the people, and also the deficits of the Canadian National Railways is another crushing load which will have to be lifted. Big expenditures on highways and other facilities will have to be cut down to bare essentials. In the days of early settlement, vast tracts of land were allowed to be sparsely settled on which entailed expense out of all proportion to the potential revenue to be secured. The sooner Alberta lives within its income, the better it will be for all concerned. It will mean increased taxation for some time to come, but this is not surprising except to those who had fondly hoped for something for nothing.

BOYS AND GIRLS singing in choruses at the school concert indicated that young voices can be trained quite as successfully here as in the larger centres of culture and art. It was a pleasure to listen to these young folks, under an able conductor who had given time and thought in their preparation for singing before fond parents and the public generally. There was none of that harshness caused by some trying to sing louder than others. The harmony was splendid. It showed the value of music and singing being taught in the schools.

COMMENT adverse and otherwise has arisen over the council's request to the Alberta Liquor Commission to have the bars closed at stated intervals on Saturdays. As it does not apply to other towns in the Pass, its effect will be somewhat nullified. Infractions of the liquor laws are responsible for the council's action. During prohibition days there was a strong clamor for re-opening of the bars to minimize the effects of illegal sale and the evils attendant on underground traffic. But the privileges are abused, with the result there is just cause for complaint. The enforcement of the law has not been sufficiently severe to curb the annoyances of drunks creating disturbances, hence a protest of public opinion. But the liberties of the rest of the people should not be curtailed because there are some who cannot behave. Rather put them in the cooler and fine them. Police on hand on the main street on Saturday could soon cut short the howling of the too hilarious who cannot drink a glass of beer without becoming damned nuisances.

YOUR NEWSPAPER

We who call this community "home" find our first interests here. We take pride in our community, our institutions and our people; we share the joys and sorrows of our neighbors in an intimate vein to be found only in the typical American town.

Service to our community and its people is the creed of our newspaper. It is upon that foundation that it has been built.

It brings to you an intimate, neighborly week-by-week history of our community that can be found in no other newspaper, for no other newspaper shares our interest and concern in and for our community.

It is because we bring you all the home news, of people and things which are your first interest, that our readers represent a great family circle. The merchant or the manufacturer who would gain the interest and attention of this great family can find no medium to equal the ear, friendly reception with which this newspaper is received into these many hundreds of homes.

Newspaper of Pennsylvania are now observing their fourth annual Newspaper Prestige Week, an event designed to better acquaint the people of all the Commonwealth with the many and important services the newspapers render.

That prestige which this newspaper enjoys has been achieved through the year it has dedicated its every effort to the best interests of our community and our people. In the year that lies ahead our ambition will be to improve and to grow, as we renew our labors for improvement and growth in all the community. (We clipped the above from a thriving paper—The Souderton, Pa., Independent.)

That the resignation of Major Douglas has left the Alberta Government in a very difficult position by depriving it of the advisor who had been counted upon to institute Social Credit in Alberta was revealed in a recent editorial in the Calgary Albertan, the official Social Credit organ. The editorial said in part:

"The fact will have to be faced that if Major Douglas is determined to carry out his threat to break his contract with the government of Alberta an embarrassing situation will be created, embarrassing to the government; embarrassing for those who have supported, advocated and believed in Social Credit for this province."

Clean up, paint up week must be just around spring's corner. It's time for the annual appearance of the joke about the lady who wanted some three color paint for her husband's barber pole.

The moral virtues, without religion, are but cold, lifeless, and insipid; it is only religion which opens the mind to great conceptions, fills it with the most sublime ideas, and warms the soul with more than sensual pleasures.—Addison.

Advertising

Tell me not in mournful numbers
Advertising doesn't pay;
For the man's "non compos mentis"
Who would such absurd things say.

Life is real, life is earnest,
And the man who hopes to rise
To success in any calling,
Must expect to Advertise.

In this world's broad field of battle,
In the conflict of real life,
Advertising is the secret
Of achievement in the strife.

Lives of rich men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And by liberal advertising,
To the highest summit climb.

—British Printer, 1888.

If it is advertised in The Journal it must be O.K.

An English chicken dealer was caught putting lipstick on the combs of old hens to make them look younger. The press said it "isn't cricket". We'd call it "not according to Hoyle," but there and here such "schmoozing" makes MERCHANTS! Strive to develop new business among Coleman buyers by advertising in your local weekly paper—The Journal—thereby setting the example of buying at home.

Copy for news and advertising should be in as early as possible on Tuesday of each week. This facilitates publication on time, and would be appreciated by the publisher.

Orders for Gummed Paper for parceling machines may be filled at The Journal office. Plain or printed paper may be supplied, at lowest current prices. Printed gummed paper orders should be given one month ahead of requirement, as it takes that length of time to put the orders through the factory.

Buy from Journal advertisers. We boost for those who boost for Coleman, and boosters make it a better town in which to work and live.

Usually you will find the real shopping opportunities advertised in The Journal.

The Rocky Mountains Call

Two of the most democratic societies in the world, whose membership includes a former king and queen, famous statesmen, and common folks, all on an equal footing, are the Sky-Line Trail Hikers and Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, whose annual outings this year promise something new in the way of scenery and energetic healthy recreation.

The Trail Riders, whose five-day trip starts from the Banff Springs Hotel on July 31, will tour a section of the Park which was chosen by Major F. J. Jennings, superintendent of Banff National Park, for the interesting variety it offers. The centre of activities for the Sky-Line Trail Hikers, from August 7 to 10, will be Lake O'Hara, probably the most beautiful spot in the Rockies. In both cases there is splendid fishing in swift-running mountain streams, and unlimited opportunities for the camera enthusiast.

The Trail Ride actually begins about four miles from Banff, winds its way between Mount Edith and Mount Norquay, follows Portmille Creek east of the Sawback Range, passes over Badger Pass, follows Johnston Creek down to the end of the spectacular canyon of the same name, and ends up near the highway where there is an ideal spot for the Pow Wow and Sing-Song that concludes every Trail Ride outing. It provides five care-free days with fine open Alpine meadows, high passes, good timber, and lakes and streams of great beauty.

Plans for the Sky-Line Trail Hike make provision for one central camp at Lake O'Hara. This will avoid changing camp every night as has been done in the past and will reduce the cost of the outing considerably. From Lake O'Hara the hikers will make forays of adventure over the Moss Lake trail to Lake Louise; through the Naros Lake district; along spectacular Cataract Creek to the limpid beauty of Lake McArthur and along the McArthur creek trail; and southeast through the valleys of lofty Mounts Yukness, Hunabee, and Wenchemma.

Helping Your Competitor

When John Jones the grocer doesn't advertise he makes it easier for his good friends to go to his competitors and "just look over the advertised specials." Of course sometimes the competitors sell the "friends" a few things on which John could have made a little profit. When Charlie Clum the clothier doesn't advertise he helps the nearby city competitor to seem all the more important with his lavish use of paper and ink.

When Fred Farrington the furniture man does not advertise he is the more easily forgotten when his neighbors are looking over the mail order sales manual.

Of course all of these boys pay the advertising bills of their competitors through the customers they relinquish to them.

Helpfulness is a fine virtue, but when it goes to the extent of heaping luxuries on those who do not need them while the donor struggles and worries along, it is a tell-tale of timidity.

Here and There

Barwell, Alta., sets this year's record for the first official report on work on the land, according to a message received March 19 by the Agricultural Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Winnipeg. The earliest last year was from Taber, Alta., which has held the record for five years, on March 21.

Alfred S. McKay, recently elected president of the Southern Alberta Pioneers and Old-Timers' Association, is one of the two surviving members of the survey party which charted the route of the Canadian Pacific Railway across prairies and mountains in 1880-1885.

Interviewed at Victoria recently, W. M. Neal, vice-president of western lines, Canadian Pacific Railway, noted that he anticipated one of the biggest travel years in recent Canadian history. There had been, he said, a substantial improvement in passenger travel business last year which is expected to continue this year.

Changes in hotel management in western Canada are announced by H. F. Mathews, general manager Canadian Pacific Hotel system as follows: T. E. Chester, manager Hotel Vancouver, appointed assistant general manager of the company's hotels in western Canada, succeeding A. E. Robertson, resigned; Colin F. Pratt, manager Palliser Hotel, Calgary, becomes manager Hotel Vancouver with W. J. Myllett, succeeding Mr. Pratt as manager of the Palliser.

Vancouver Island, known as the historical cradle of the Pacific Northwest, is to be featured this summer by a special cruise of the Princess North, of the Canadian Pacific B.C. service, which will make a complete circuit of the island, leaving Vancouver at 2 p.m., July 13, for a seven day trip in the paths of the early explorers.

During the winter season just closed, there was witnessed the greatest step forward in skiing travel ever recorded. Over 51,000, more than a fifth greater than last year, made journeys over the week-end from Montreal to ski territory in the Laurentians, the mountain paradise to the north of Montreal thoroughly covered by Canadian Pacific Railway. Many came from cities in the Eastern United States to enjoy the sport.

Nine weeks have been named and arranged for Vancouver's Golden Jubilee celebrations proper this summer but the festivities will cover the whole season and are expected to attract visitors from all over the world. One of the high lights will be the re-enacting of the arrival of the first Canadian Pacific train half a century ago.

Thirteen short European cruises from British ports will be made between May and October by the Canadian Pacific liners Montclair and Montcalm this year. The Baltic and the Mediterranean will be covered extensively in these voyages.

Dr. A. H. Compton, physics research expert, recently returned from a trip to Honolulu on S. S. Aorangi, after studying activities of the cosmic ray in the southern hemisphere. A specially constructed house on the liner's after-bridge contained the delicate apparatus for the purpose of securing more data on the little-known but ever present ray during the ship's Antipodean trip.

Will Rogers once scoffed at the fear of death. "Course we are, all just hanging on here as long as we can. I don't know why we hate to go, we know it's better there. Maybe it's because we haven't done anything that will live after we are gone."

DORIS JACKSON WINS MISPELT WORD COMPETITION

Seven competitors discovered the mis-spelt word in last week's issue of The Journal. It was in the advertisement of the Elite Confectionery, of which Mrs. J. Bell is proprietress. The mis-spelt word was "Cellophane," incorrectly spelled "Celaphane". Those discovering it were S. Borrows, Betty Garner, Frances Short, Pat Hoyle, G. Pierunek, Doris Jackson, Bernard McDonald.

These names were placed in a box, and the first one drawn awarded a handsome fruit bowl, which will be given to the winner on calling at The Journal office.

Look for mis-spelt word in the next issue of The Journal, among the advertisements.

HOLDUP MEN TO HANG

A bank holdup in Vancouver in January led to the suicide of two of the men who took part, and two more of the gang of four were sentenced to death last week. A bank clerk named Hobbs was killed and the manager was wounded.

ADVERTISEMENTS MUST BE SEEN

Trite but true—buried advertisements never yet built sales. Liberty's make-up guarantees visibility for every advertisement. Others have learned the power of small space advertising. Let Liberty's more than 200,000 concentrated in urban markets—make money for you, too!

Postpone that war. We already have a new crop of heroes. Recent disasters brought them to light.

"Thou wilt not leave us in the dust
Thou madest man; he knows not why;
He thinks he was not made to die,
And Thou hast made him; Thou art just."
—Teagsoon.

A girl's ambition need never end in a flop. If she cannot accomplish something worthwhile by herself she can hook on to some man (it's leap year) and affect the world much more through him than either could have done alone.

Correction

In the model house building competition of Excel Builders' Supply Co., conditions of which were published last week, the following correction is made in paragraph 2 of the rules:

"The floor plan must not be less than 132 square inches, but must not exceed 808 square inches."

If you require another copy of the rules, apply at Journal office $50 in cash prizes.

Stores and offices will be closed on Good Friday, and Easter Monday, though a bank holiday, is not a civic holiday. Enquiries from the mayor and the president of the Retail Merchants Association elicited the reply that stores may do as they please about closing on Easter Monday; there will be no ruling issued concerning closing.

LORD HEWART'S PEN DAYS

His Career as a Newspaper Man Recalled

Speaking as the guest of honor at the Ladies' Night at the Press Club, London, the other night, Lord Hewart, the Lord Chief Justice, recalled his early newspaper days.

His first experience, he said, was at the age of 18, when, under the instigation of his mother, he wrote a "wonderful article" advocating what was then quite unfashionable—the extension of the franchise to women.

"It is now nearly 44 years ago," he added, "since I first wrote an article in a newspaper office with a small boy standing by my side to take down every sheet as it was finished—a nervous operation."

"I do not think there is any profession in the world which does its work better than the profession of the working journalist."

"The ingratitude of democracy and the ingratitude of kings, are, I think, as nothing to the ingratitude of readers."

Recalling his days in the Press Gallery of the House of Commons, Lord Hewart said: "I always remember, when I was complaining one day of a speech which was being made, a dear old gentleman on Hansard said, 'What are you grumbling about?' I replied: 'It is very dull.'"

"Of course it is," he said. "But, you know, if one damn fool isn't talking, another damn fool is."

—News of the World.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO MOTHERS

A very unique mothers' tea will be held at the Army Hall on Saturday, May 2, from 3 to 6 p.m. Carnations will be sold in connection with Mother's Day, also other articles made by the boys and girls of the Legion. Mrs. Weir and the Legion girls are working hard to ensure a profitable time for all who attend this special tea. Tell your friends.

MEETS HORRIBLE DEATH

The following account of an accident in Port Haney, B.C., as reported in the Weekly Gazette makes us realize anew that we cannot be too careful about machinery.

Maimed and horribly bruised and battered, the body of K. Takatsu, 19-year-old Japanese boy, was found turning around on the shafting that drives the green chains on Saturday morning last in the mill of the Hammond Cedar Co., at 8:30 a.m.

The boy was still alive when mill hands found him. According to their story, he must have reached his arm up over his head and caught his sweater sleeve in the shafting. His right arm, the one caught, was twisted around and severed from the body, being held in place only by the skin and muscles at the back of the shoulder.

His clothing was all twisted around the shafting, every stitch of it having been pulled from his body, except his shoes and stockings.

His death occurred in the Royal Columbian hospital at 7:55 Saturday night.

In climbing the winding stairs in Washington's monument you get a glimpse now and then through small windows of the great and beautiful world outside. So to the inner eye of every man comes occasional visions of his greater possibilities as he plods along.

Chemists can find no difference in sweetness between cane and beet sugar but what a whale of a difference a little sugar makes in coffee—or conversation—especially the latter under certain circumstances. But too much? Sugar is sweet, but moderation is a wonderful word.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

The Hamilton, Ont., Herald went out of existence, with the March 31 issue after 47 unbroken years of activity.

Montagu Norman has been re-elected governor of the Bank of England. He has held the post since 1920.

Premier Hepburn says that he has reconsidered his announcement of last October that he would retire from office at the end of the current session of the Ontario legislature.

The Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways will save $35,000 a year through unification of roundhouse facilities in Ottawa, Railway Minister Howe told the House of Commons.

Dr. W. H. Alexander, head of the classics department, University of Alberta, has received an appointment to lecture at Columbia University, New York, summer sessions in July and August.

Negotiation of a trade agreement with Soviet Russia "has been and still is under consideration," Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House of Commons in answer to a question from Angus MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver East).

And now it's mercy flights for horses. When eight teams ran out of feed 50 miles from Hudson, Ont., a passing plane was flagged down and the news taken to Hudson. Pilot Ethel Crann then flew out with a load of hay.

Winnings from lotteries do not come within the scope of the Income Tax Act, Dominion Tax Commissioner Patterson said at Toronto. "A lottery or a sweepstake is a straight gamble," he said, "and gambling is not recognized as source of income."

Discovery Of X-Ray

Röntgen Happened On Great Find 41 Years Ago

Like many other epoch-making discoveries in science, the discovery of X-rays was accidental. While investigating the passage of high-voltage electric currents through vacuum tubes, William Conrad Röntgen in 1895 happened upon this great find. Further research has resulted in the development of X-rays to a point, when to-day it is considered one of our major aids in the fight against the dread disease cancer. Its use in diagnosis in hospitals is well known and of extreme importance. Its application is being constantly extended.

But the X-ray has also found its place in industry. It is now possible to discover defects in various metals, by the use of the X-ray. This is of great importance when metal is used in construction subject to enormous pressure and strain.

At several of the most important ports of entry, the Customs Department uses the X-ray in searching for articles intended to be smuggled into the country. Then again, in the jewellery business X-rays are used to ascertain the value of gems, particularly pearls. Another curious use to which they are put is to obtain information as to the authenticity of paintings by the Old Masters.

It is believed that no X-ray apparatus is manufactured in Canada. According to the records, the imports of surgical and dental instruments, surgical needles, X-ray apparatus, microscopes and complete parts for all the foregoing, ran to about $1,700,000 in 1934, coming mainly from the United Kingdom, United States and Germany.

Changed Order

Says Machine Age Will Eventually Take World Control

Henry Ford, combining a winter vacation in Georgia, with research on a new automobile motor, predicted that the machine age eventually "will take control of the world from the financiers."

The multi-millionaire manufacturer said the changed order would end the ability of the wealthy to "rule the universe" and that independence would come to the individuals who develop the machinery.

New Form Of Illumination

Synthetic Dusts Produce White Light As Sun Makes It

Powder light, a new form of illumination in which synthetic dusts glow with brightness, emitting electric light, was made public for the first time at a meeting of the New York Electrical Society.

At the same time a laboratory approach to the sun itself, a mercury vapor light, was shown, its temperature 23,000 degrees, twice the sun's surface heat and described as the hottest ever created by man.

The powder light is produced in tubes about a foot long and the diameter of heavy walking canes. It is a cold glow, fluorescence, induced by invisible ultra-violet light, produced electrically within the tube.

Brilliance of coloring never before seen, and efficiency even in white light twice that of ordinary electric lights were claimed for this discovery. Half a dozen of the new lights, in colors from green to pure white, were demonstrated by Dr. L. E. Rutolph, research scientist of the General Electric Company at Nela Park, Cleveland.

There are hundreds of kinds of natural rock dusts which glow faintly—that is fluorescence—when invisible ultra-violet rays strike them. The new step of science is to create artificially dusts which glow with surpassing brightness, instead of the usual dull glow of nature.

The fluorescent colors of these dusts are brilliant and beautiful, as exotic as those of nature. By mixing several of them together the wizards of the new light have produced white light in the same way the sun makes it.

World Wheat Situation

Clearances From All Countries Improved During Last Month

During March there was a sharp improvement in the world movement of wheat, clearances from all countries being at the highest level of the crop year. Canada and Australia secured a very high proportion of the total trade in the four weeks, 42 per cent in the case of Canada and 37 for Australia.

It is apparent that Canada may expect much less competition than usual in selling wheat until the 1936 crops are harvested. Russia will probably offer the first real competition. In the United States, where an import basis has prevailed in 1934-35 and 1935-36, an export surplus appears probable in 1936-37, although governmental policy regarding its disposal is not yet clear.

Present prospects suggest a surplus of such size that it could reasonably be added to domestic end-season stocks without embarrassment.

Will Probe Accidents

Britain To Conduct New Crusade In Public Safety

The most exhaustive analysis of road accidents ever made in Great Britain will be begun in a new crusade to increase public safety.

It will be the latest step in a campaign to decrease accidents which, Leslie Hore Belisha, minister of transport, told the House of Commons, caused more than 2,500,000 casualties in the reign of the late King George.

This figure, he said, is "comparable with the aggregate of all killed and wounded in the forces in the United Kingdom in the Great War."

Hore Belisha, whose campaign already has met with some success announced the forthcoming analysis would involve study of about 200,000 separate occurrences throughout the country. Every road accident involving either death or injury will be analyzed in a search for the causes and possible remedies.

Gave Strange Idea Of World

Greek Philosopher Credited With Drawing The First Map

The credit for drawing the first map goes to a Greek philosopher, Anaximander, who lived between 500 and 600 B.C.

Anaximander's map represented a strange idea of the world, because so little of it was then known, and, like all men of his time, he had no idea that the world was a globe.

He thought of it as completely flat, an expanse of water and land over which moved balls of fire. The earth itself he thought was quite stationary. He was among the earliest philosophers who attempted to conceive the origin of all things.

Man "struggled for hundreds of years to find means of relieving himself of work. Out of that effort grew machinery. And now man finds himself out of a job. We greatly fear man is a "fathed."

The King Takes A Walk

Edward VIII. Will Not Be Governed By Old Customs

Nobody ever saw a photograph of King George walking in the street, nor of King Edward or Queen Victoria.

Only once, it is reported, did King George venture to walk out of the Palace. About 100 yards up the Mall from the main gate, is the huge and beautiful marble memorial to Queen Victoria. The King had driven past it probably thousands of times, and he said one day he would like to have a close look at it. So he walked out and looked.

Queen Victoria once expressed a desire to ride in a street car. But, of course, she never could. There are few things the common people do that King Edward has not done, and if there is anything he wants to do, he'll just do it, king or no king.

Birthday Of King Edward

Saskatchewan Government Makes June 23 Statutory School Holiday

The birthday of King Edward VIII—June 23—from now on will be a statutory school holiday in Saskatchewan.

Provision for making this a holiday was written into the school act recently by way of house amendment to the school bill which was before the house.

Before the king's birthday was listed as an optional holiday. Now it has been changed and becomes a statutory school holiday.

Another change in the act gives the overseer of a village the power to proclaim a public holiday in the same way that as power was held by the mayors of cities and towns, and the Reeves of municipalities.

Explanations And Comments

He Is Risen, Luke 24:1-12. In the account of the entombment of Christ, Luke tells us that the women who had come with him out of Galilee followed after and beheld the tomb and how his body was laid. They returned and prepared spices and ointments, and on the Sabbath they rested according to the commandment. On the following day, the first day of the week, they went back to the tomb with their spices and learned that the tomb was empty; Christ had arisen. All the way they had been worrying about the great stone that blocked the entrance to the tomb. They knew they could not move it, and who would be there to move it for them? But they found the stone rolled away from the opening and on entering found the tomb empty.

"The tomb had so long been final. It was regarded as the end of all earthly pilgrimages. The women with the spices went out that Easter morning, thinking the tomb was final still, and who would be there to move it for them? But they found the stone rolled away from the opening and on entering found the tomb empty. They thought, had ended the brief and luminous ministry of their Master. The only thing could be rolled away for an hour and then close and keep it own again. And so, the tomb was empty! The fact leaped at them and stunned them. They had no predisposing expectation of a resurrection. But then and there began the Christian joy over the conquered tomb" (Galeus Glenn Atkins).

"Why seek ye the living among the dead?" were the words the wondering, perplexed women heard. They were looking for their Lord in the wrong place. "He is not here." He is not to be found among the dead, for "he is risen," and will be found among the living.

"Remember how he spoke unto you when he was yet in Galilee, saying that the Son of man must be delivered up into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again," reference to the conversation in the neighborhood of Caesarea Philippi, chapter nine.

The women—Mary Magdalene, and Joanna (see 8:3) and Mary the mother of James, and the other women, returned from the tomb, and told all these things to the eleven, and to all the rest.

YOUR GARDEN

Early Spring is generally considered the most favourable season for planting nursery stock. Under the latter heading comes a wide variety of plants, including rose bushes, shrubs, fruit and ornamental trees, perennial flower plants, vines, raspberry bushes, asparagus, strawberry plants and a host of other permanent things. In purchasing such material, without overlooking the importance of securing fresh stock from a reliable Canadian source, roots and stems should be pliable and moist and if there is any upper growth as in the case of shrubs and trees, there should be evidence of live green buds. On receipt the plants should be kept in a cool, moist place, but not so cold as to freeze them, if this is possible, but otherwise buried lightly in a trench with the soil firmed about the roots, or if the ground is frozen the stock should be stored in a cool, moist place so that there is no chance of its drying out.

Most people realize that all vegetables deteriorate in storage. The early potatoes are always tastier than those coming out of frosty cellars this month. The former taste better because they are not ripe. To get this quality in all vegetables except the root vegetables, one must have a seedling season over a period of weeks. They realize that vegetables deteriorate in the garden just as they do in storage and so they always have a few feet of lettuce and a row or two of spinach, one in the garden and practically everything else coming on rather than the whole gardening maturing at one time. There is nothing to equal fresh peas, tender and juicy, when taken right out of the garden and put in the pot, but if the same peas are to be used for vines for three or four days after they are ready, the best flavour has gone. To have a succession of really good vegetables, one must make at least three sowings from the one packet, at intervals of from ten days to two weeks, and will further extend the season by using early, medium and late varieties.

These catalogues will prove mines of information for the average gardener. This publication is thoroughly reliable and is illustrated with actual photographs. These catalogues put out by the large firms contain more than a mere mention of the many flowers and vegetables available in Canada. They specify important points such as time of planting, resistance or lack of resistance to frost, height, colour, season of blooming, whether scented, and also the suitability of the flower for cutting purposes. All of these points should be taken into consideration in planning a real garden, authorities state, as only with such knowledge can a comprehensive and practical scheme be worked out. Little plants must not be hidden by tall things, and there should be a mixture of bloom in the garden as possible from early June on. The most satisfactory planting also, will give plenty of material for bouquets and there should be some plants noted for their scent. A good flower garden is similar to a good library. It will reflect the individual preferences of the owner, and there will be something to fit every occasion.

The new prisoner had been in his cell when he began to realize that he was a disappointed man.

"I say, warden," he said, on the fourth day, "when does the fun begin?"

"Fun?" echoed the warden. "What fun? You don't expect fun in 'ere."

The prisoner looked amazed. "Lumme," he exclaimed; "then what did the judge mean when 'e said I was to come in 'ere for the time of my life?"

Had Its Advantages

Slower Travelling Found Drivers Alive At End Of Day

Only 30 years ago six miles an hour on a highway behind a horse was considered good going. Of course, the cruising radius in such a vehicle was only about 25 miles at the very maximum. Ten years later 30 miles an hour was considered a fair clip. And so up to 90. Admitted, that if the tempo of all the surrounding life is accelerated, 45 miles an hour in 1936 may be no faster in "relativity" than was six-an-hour in 1906, but it may have the above-mentioned advantage over 90-miles an hour that the motorists are still alive at the end of the day.

The point of the matter is that time has not grown 10 times more precious in 30 years; whereas life has not ceased to be sweet. If it is not sweet to the speaker, it may still be sweet to others on the same road.

FLEMING'S FOLLY

— BY —
LAWRENCE A. KEATING

SYNOPSIS

The story opens with Link Fleming addressing a meeting of Boone County cattlemen, called together with the object of forming an irrigation company.

The meeting terminates, but Buzz Hamilton and his sister, Irina, Link and Kilgo stay behind and Helen asks Fleming questions about his irrigation plan. This angers Buzz, who accuses Fleming of trying to influence his sister and, as he asserts, ruin his "spread". Buzz shoots at Fleming in an uncontrollable fit of anger, but Buster Townsend, Link's foreman, is unharmed. Buzz is arrested and sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

Helen and Fleming form a partnership to provide irrigation for their own properties.

Fleming goes home and studies the plans drawn by Torney to learn whether they could be adapted to a smaller scheme suitable for his and Helen's land, and is satisfied it could be done. Feeling cold, he lights the fire and there is an explosion that wrecks the house, burns it and the plans and renders Link unconscious. He is rescued from the blaze by an employee.

Helen and Link ride to Rawhide for supplies and to obtain funds to carry out the dam project. They meet Roper, who greets Helen and offers to ship with her. Link goes to see the Sheriff, who tells him Buzz Hamilton has been paroled, and would arrive on the incoming stage, but that he thinks Link has made a mistake in getting Buzz released.

Buzz Hamilton arrives back in Rawhide while Fleming and Helen are in the bank getting a loan for payment of wages for work on the dam. Roper Kilgo and Jackpot sell meet him and he goes into the saloon with them. By the time his sister and Link come from the bank, Buzz has had several drinks. Roper has distorted the facts concerning the dam proposal to Buzz, making it appear that Link is trying to ruin him. Buzz, inflamed with liquor and anger, tries to throttle Fleming, but is thrown to the floor. Then Helen appears and tells Fleming she has been robbed of the $800 they had obtained from the bank.

(Now Go On With The Story)

"You can't fool me, Link Fleming!" The words spilled in a torrent from his quivering lips. "I got the truth about you! I got it right. Did you think there wasn't anybody in town man enough to put me wise?"

"Why, Buzz?" the girl pleaded.

"What do you mean?"

He turned on the most avowed.

"You ought to see through it but you don't. You've got control of our spread; I haven't any rights till I'm pardoned. That's what Kilgo wanted to get for me. Yes, you'd see through this scheme too, if you weren't so blind in love he's got you sufficed!"

Every time he held his hand out.

"That's enough, Hamilton!"

Shamed so that her countenance fairly glowed with blushes, Helen looked away, uncertain how to deal with her drink-ridden brother parading sentiments obviously not original with him. "Please let's be alone. The first hour we're together again! After I've—I've prayed for you, and hoped and—"

"That's all right," he growled.

"But I can't see how you ever fell for Fleming's lingo about that dam. There isn't a ranch in the county has faith in it. Soak Torney said it wasn't any good, didn't he? You're shore to break our spread—trying to irrigate a heap of sand!"

He pointed ahead, toward the foothills of the Captain Range a few miles away, topped by jagged peaks rising into serene blue sky. "That wasteland'll never be anything, no matter how much money you pour into it," Buzz declared emphatically. "Water'll twenty cent ground!"

Link stared where he indicated but scarcely saw the yellowish expanse beyond low-lying bushes of the Triple H Ranch whose people they now rode. He was pondering how to win Hamilton's confidence, and bitterly reproached himself for having knocked the bottle away. Yet he knew sight of Buzz drinking was like a knife to Helen's flesh; he had been forced to let the move by the utter misery in her soft eyes.

"Hold on, oldtimer," he said in a controlled tone. "I don't think it'll be so bad after all. Silver Creek's only thirty-two feet across where we're damming it. There are rock ledges for a mile back that'll hold an awful lot of water. Of course, we dug a cut-off while the dam's being laid, and we're digging irrigation ditches through that wasteland."

"We've got a good engineer in charge," he went on, "and his hopefulness for even a modicum of interest. This name's McDennis, and he's built a lot of dams. It's like this," he continued. "I'm standing seventeen-twenty-sixths of the dam, on account of having severed hundred acres to Helen's—yore—nine hundred."

"I'll admit, we're hard pressed for money, Buzz. Had to raise first mortgages on our spreads, and we gave a note for that eight hundred that was just stolen. But what if folks do call it Fleming's Folly? Inside of a couple of days they'll change their tune. Because the Silver Creek Dam will be workin' mighty quick now. Nothing can stop us—we're going to increase the value of the Triple H and Star Loop at least three hundred per cent. If you ask me, a thousand per cent!"

Ending, he was conscious of Helen's eyes upon him, wide and shining with enthusiasm. Link smiled at her, then glanced at Buzz. His upper lip was curling.

"Yeah?"

It carried plainer than words the deep-set intractability of the man. It was as if he had called Link a liar, as if he had sneered: "I'll never work, and even if it does, I won't believe it!"

The partners exchanged discouraged looks. Buzz Hamilton's homecoming was not a success. If anything, he was an added obstacle, a thorn in their path, where already there were so many . . .

CHAPTER XI.

Drawing rein in the Triple H yard, the riders saw two men in nondescript garb seated on the edge of the ranch house stoop, looking as if they had waited there some time. The pair rose with deliberation and ambled forward while Link and Helen exchanged questioning glances.

"Howdy, boys," Fleming greeted, uneasily aware of a truculent note in their bearing. "Anything wrong at the dam?"

One of the men, his leathery face thickly blacked with beard, spoke up. "There's plenty wrong at the dam. We want our wages and we ain't don't another tap of work till we get 'em."

"Said you'd pay us twice a month, didn't yuh?" growled the other. "We're weeks behind now. How about it?"

Link felt Helen and Buzz watching him and knew the girl was troubled, while young Hamilton's countenance wore renewed defiance. He forced a grin and gestured placatingly. "Boys, you don't need to worry about that money."

Tug Orless turned to the girl. "Yo're partners with Fleming, Miss. How about it?"

"I'm sure you will be paid," she answered promptly. "But Mr. Fleming and I are rather hard pressed right now, and—er—it may be necessary for you to give us a little more time."

They exchanged significant looks. "We know why yuh went to town this mornin', Fleming. Somebody's gonna throw yuh into bankruptcy, the cement guys or somebody. Yore creditors are hollerin' for cash same as us guys workin' on yore fool dam. But we found out wages get paid first, so there ain't gonna be any way for you to wiggle outa here. Surprise flooded his lean countenance. "Somebody's fooling you, boys. I don't know anything about creditors throwing us into bankruptcy. He turned to Helen. "Do you?"

She shook her head. "Of course not. The dam will be finished."

"Mean to say yuh didn't go to Rawhide to fix things?" demanded Orless with suspicion.

"Tug, Miss Hamilton and I went to Rawhide to—to meet Buzz. He was just paroled to me, and that little affair last Fall is all forgotten."

"Wish," he added as an idea struck him, "that you'd spread the word around. Buzz has paid his debt and he's making a clean start. Jack, I reckon if your brother's come home after—being away—you'd go meet him, wouldn't you? That's what Hamilton did, and I went along."

Helen flashed him a grateful look. Even the ex-convict seemed impressed with Link's words, and it seemed that Buzz straightened and threw his shoulders back.

"But how about wages?" insisted Kevin. "When do we get paid? We ain't workin' for our health!"

"Of course not. I'll tell you right out, we're pressed for cash, just like Miss Hamilton said. We make no secret of it. But there are some means under way to pay you, and if they shouldn't go through I'll figure out something else. If you go back on us now, we might go broke. Then I reckon you'd be out 'o' luck."

"But if you stick," he proceeded, watching their reactions, "I'll give you any money you'll get cash as soon as possible. And backin' me up, Miss Hamilton'll tell you the same thing."

Helen nodded, her eyes fixed hopefully on their grim faces. The pair shifted weight and pursed their lips. Finally Tug Orless turned half away. "We go to find out what the others say that're waitin' at yore spread. We come over here to be shore there wasn't no one pulled on us."

This information struck fresh apprehension to his heart, and looking out of the corners of his eyes at Helen, he saw that worry possessed her as well. But they concealed their feelings and smiled tolerantly, as if the matter would soon be adjusted.

"I'll ride over to the ranch with you, boys," Link announced. "Where's your horses?"

They went to fetch them behind the ranch house, and it did not escape Fleming that Kevin and Orless had hidden their mounts from view of anyone approaching from Rawhide. This indicated, of course, that they actually feared Link and Helen would not have come to the Triple H had they known of the reception committee.

"Where'd Buzz go?" he asked in a low tone, looking around for him. A troubled expression came to her face. "He went inside. And Link, I just know he has another bottle of whisky."

They stood a moment considering. "Well," he decided, "I reckon I bet to go talk to him."

But she touched his arm in restraint. "I know how Buzz is, very irritable when he's been drinking. Better if we let him alone. I hope," she added bravely, staring toward the mountains, "he hasn't started to—to be like he before."

"You know," Helen went on in a tone of wistful regret, "Buzz was never like the rest of us. Father said when he was dying that I should be very careful how I treat him. Buzz—oh, he has temptations we don't feel. He can't resist gambling and drinking. It will be hard to keep him out of bad company."

The fervor of her anxiety carried straight to the Star Loop owner's heart. Fleming wanted to comfort her, to drive away every little groove that marred the satiny brow showing under her steinon. He gazed at Helen with eyes brimming affection, and the slender hand on his arm exerted pressure that proved she understood and was grateful.

"You've enough to worry about. Leave Buzz to me. How will you like to know?"

He shrugged his shoulders. "Reckon they'll go back to work all right. But gosh, that eight hundred being gone makes things hard. You didn't

King Of Longevity

Mohammedan Indian Emigrated To West Indies In 1811

After seeing 133 years fleet by in his lifetime, Charles Champion, a Mohammedan Indian who emigrated to the West Indies in 1811 at the age of eight, does not want to live more than five months longer.

Since the death in June, 1934, of the aged Turk, Zaro Agba who said he was 160, Champion, true to his name, claims to be the King of Longevity, the oldest man in the world.

One of the first settlers on the island of Trinidad, the patriarch attributes his longevity to moderation in eating, sufficient sleep, and abstinence from alcohol. But now he feels his long life is nearly the end he almost eagerly awaits. He says he has enjoyed "the last long rest."

A living history of the growth of the colony of Trinidad, Champion has a couple of crumbling and faded immigration certificates that he produces as proof of his great age. They state he migrated from Calcutta to Grenada on the sailing ship Fulwood in 1811 when he was eight years of age.

He worked 30 years on sugar plantations in Grenada with his parents before going to Trinidad in a battered old inter-island trading ship which landed him on the island near what is now Port of Spain.

He believes in the old maxim of "early to bed and early to rise," which to him means sleeping from six o'clock in the evening until four in the morning. To this day, he takes a four o'clock bath in a cool spring near his home every morning.

Until recently he never partook of alcohol. Now he has the occasional drink of wine or light spirits as a stimulant. He has been bothered for the last 30 or so years—since he turned the century mark—by not having any teeth.

His regular habits have kept him in remarkable condition and he still does not know the meaning of fatigue.

The Royal Signature

King Edward VIII Writes Name With Familiar Flourish

King Edward, who has a new signature now that he's the monarch, has swung into writing his new name without any difficulty.

It's really just an improvisation on the old one.

When he was the Prince of Wales he signed documents "Edward P." Now it's "Edward R. L." Before becoming sovereign he always wrote the "P" after his name with a full loop. Now he adds a straight downward stroke to form an "R" and strikes a perpendicular line for the "L."

He still adheres to his familiar old flourish from the ending of the "d" of his name, the flourish running the length of the name.

An Interesting Antique

Old Veterinary Book Was Printed In London In 1755

Lovers of antiques and old editions would be delighted to examine an ancient veterinary book, owned by the Talbot family, living north of Orkney, Shetland. It is a pocket edition five inches by eight inches, with leather binding. The paper is parchment-like, creamed by age.

The peculiar type and queer spelling proves its extreme age.

This book was given to the great grandfather of this family by Sergeant Pratt while he resided in northern Ireland. It was brought to Canada 55 years ago.

On the first page is "Printed in London for A. Millar in the Strand MDCCCLV. (1755)."

A little Scotch boy, having been an uncle at the age of four, was taken to see the new baby.

"What's he saying, Sandy?" asked his sister, as the infant made the usual gurgling noises.

Sandy cast a wary and inquiring eye round the room—and then replied: "It sounds like, 'Gie Sandy an apple!'"

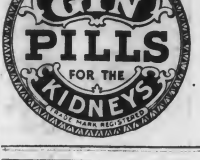

Neighbor: "Where is your brother, Freddie?"

Freddie: "He's in the house playing a duet. I finished first."

Canada's Northwest Territories comprise an area of 1,309,682 square miles, or more than a third of the entire land area of that country.

Little Help For This Week

Blessed are the peacemakers; for they shall be called the children of God. Matthew 5:9.

Grant us Thy peace, down from Thy presence falling. As on the thirsty earth cool night-dews sweet;

Grant us Thy peace, to Thy pure paths recalling. From devious ways, our worn and wandering feet.

Have you ever thought seriously of that blessing given to the peacemaker? People are always expecting to get peace in heaven, but whatever peace they get there will be ready-made. Whatever making of peace they can be blessed for must be on the earth here; not the taking of arms against, but the building of peace amongst its seas of trouble. Difficult enough we think, but very few of us really try. We complain of the want of many things, we want liberty, amusement, money, and which of us knows that he wants peace? We should ask God, whose chosen reward is the gift of peace, to pour it into our souls so that everything discordant may utterly vanish, and all that makes for peace would be sweet to us forever.

A Novel Burglar Trap

Not Only Protects Property But Also Catches Thief

A novel "burglar trap" which not only makes it impossible to rob any safe to which it is fitted but also catches the thief has been invented by a Budapest policeman. The device, which has been patented, is extremely simple. A special container in which is a quantity of a secret gas is fitted inside the safe, in such a manner that when the burglar's tool pierces the safe it also pierces the gas container. The gas, which is in a compressed form, hisses out and overcomes the thief. A few sniffs of the gas is enough to make any burglar fall asleep for several hours. The attempted thief is certain to have been discovered before he awakes and he can thus be easily arrested. The policeman-inventor, Joseph Woldram, has already received many enquiries from safe manufacturers in Hungary and abroad.

The Contributing Cause

Automobile Blamed For Falling Off In Hotel Patronage

The extent to which hotels everywhere are failing to receive old-time patronage is generally recognized. In fact in most centres across the line the majority of them are now in receivership hands. The auto is generally regarded as the contributing cause, roadside camps and private homes receiving the bulk of the travelling patronage and creating the habit of looking for less expensive accommodation. In Ottawa, also, it is recorded that only about fifty members are making the leading hotel their headquarters for the present season, the other M.P.'s taking apartments or in some instances, lodging at the Y.M.C.A.—Brantford Expositor.

Badminton In South Africa

Badminton is developing into a craze in South Africa. Not long ago the game was unknown. Then some church organs or in some instances are springing up in East London, Port Elizabeth, Grahamstown and many other places, and matches attract large crowds of spectators.

Lake Balkal, in central Asia, is believed to be the only land-locked water in the world containing seals.
